

Commander: –Our help is in the name of the Lord, who made heaven and earth.”

Auxiliary Chaplain: Madam President of the Ladies Auxiliary, what assurances have we of a prolonged stay among the scenes and activities of life?

Auxiliary President: –For we are aliens and pilgrims before You, as were all our fathers; our days on earth are as a shadow and without hope.”

VFW Chaplain: Comrade Senior Vice Commander, have you a message of condolence for those bereaved?

Senior Vice Commander: As a father pities his children, so the Lord pities those who fear Him. For he knows our frame; He remembers that we are dust.

VFW Chaplain: What message has the Chaplain of the Auxiliary?

Auxiliary Chaplain: I have a message of hope that should inspire our comrades at this solemn moment and all through life. The message is from our sacred scriptures, assuring us that there is life after death and whoever is faithful to the end, shall inherit eternal life.

VFW Chaplain: Comrades and Sisters, we are thankful for these inspiring thoughts. Let us learn the lesson of the hour which is that we, too, are nearing the end of life’s pilgrimage and sooner or later these services may be held in our memory. Let us so live that when our summons comes we may depart with a good conscience, in the comfort of a sincere religion, belief in God, and perfect charity toward all mankind. Madam Chaplain, would you offer a prayer.

Auxiliary Chaplain: (Motion to rise.)

Let us pray. Our Father in Heaven, at this time of remembrance, we seek You, with whom there is no death. We ask You, in Your everlasting charity, to look down on these, Your servants, and give them health, strength and willingness to carry on the work of our beloved organization, which shall be an everlasting memorial to those comrades and sisters who have passed on. In Your great infinite wisdom and mercy, may we all meet again, and we shall praise Your name, now and forever. Amen.

(Motion to be seated.)

VFW Chaplain: Comrades, brothers and sisters, in commemorating the virtues of our departed heroes who served their country in time of need we now offer our symbolic tributes.

(Department Commander and Auxiliary President will proceed to the Altar. If the ceremony is for a Department, Conference or District, the respective commanders and presidents will stand and may present the flowers on the altar when their department or district is called.)

Auxiliary Chaplain: Comrade Commander and Madam President, what tribute have you to offer at this time?

Auxiliary President: These white flowers we bring as a token of the love we have for our departed Comrades and Sisters.

(Department Commander and Madam President return to their stations. Flowers may be presented by other Districts or Departments.)

VFW Chaplain: Comrade Adjutant and Madam Secretary will now call the Roll of deceased members. (Reading of the deceased members' names or numbers of deceased members in their respective Departments or Districts.)

(–Sleep Soldier Boy” or other appropriate music may be offered at this time.)

VFW Chaplain: (If there is a Memorial Speaker, the Department Chaplain will give an introduction.)

Auxiliary Chaplain: Let us sing –America.” (Motion to rise)

VFW Chaplain: Let us pray. Heavenly Father, as today we remember and honor the memory of our departed comrades and sisters, we are indeed grateful for their service and sacrifice. May we continue their efforts as courageous protectors and true guardians of freedom. Let us be masters of brotherly and sisterly love.

O Lord, guide us in the way of moral responsibility and enlighten us and make us true believers in justice and peace. Enkindle within us a flame of selfless, unwavering devotion to duty that we may never be found wanting in those qualities of spirit and mind which alone are able to preserve our homes, the peace of our Nation, and the tranquility of the world. Remember our departed comrades and sisters, O Lord, in Your mercy, and have compassion on us. Amen.

Sergeant-at-Arms: Attention Comrades, Brothers and Sisters.

Present Arms! Comrade Bugler!

(“Taps” will be played.)

Auxiliary President: Madam Conductress, you will retire the Memorial Cloth.

(Memorial Cloth is retired.)

VFW Chaplain: This now concludes our service.

THE HISTORY OF LOYALTY DAY

Loyalty Day is observed on May 1 in the United States. It is a day set aside for the reaffirmation of loyalty to the United States and for the recognition of the heritage of American freedom.

The holiday was first observed in 1921 as “Americanization Day,” and was intended to counterbalance the celebration of Labor Day on May Day (May 1), an internationally celebrated holiday which was perceived as communist.

Loyalty Day is celebrated with parades and ceremonies in several U.S. communities, although many people in the United States remain unaware of it. Although a legal holiday, it is not a federal holiday, and is not commonly observed.

It was made an official holiday by the U.S. Congress on July 18, 1958 (Public Law 85-529). Following the passage of this law, President Dwight D. Eisenhower proclaimed May 1, 1959 the first official observance of Loyalty Day.

In 2007 President George W. Bush issued an official proclamation of the May 1, 2007 Loyalty Day in accordance with the 1958 Congressional declaration,[6] as have many of his predecessors:

- * Bill Clinton, proclamation 6556 (May 1, 1993)
- * George H. W. Bush, proclamation 5962 (April 28, 1989)
- * Ronald Reagan, proclamation 4836 (April 14, 1981)
- * Jimmy Carter, proclamation 4493 (March 23, 1977)
- * Gerald Ford, proclamation 4354 (March 4, 1975)
- * John F. Kennedy, proclamation 3528 (April 18, 1963)

THE HISTORY OF MEMORIAL DAY

Memorial Day was originally known as Decoration Day. It was a time set aside to honor the nation’s Civil War dead by “decorating” their graves. It was first observed on May 30, 1868, to commemorate the sacrifices of Civil War soldiers. During this first celebration of Decoration Day, General James Garfield made a speech at Arlington National Cemetery after which 5,000 participants helped to decorate the graves of the more than 20,000 Union and Confederate soldiers buried in the cemetery.

This 1868 celebration inspired local observances in several towns throughout America. By the late 1800s, many communities across the country had begun to celebrate Decoration Day and, after World War I, observances also began to honor those who had died in all of America’s wars.

In 1966, the Federal government, under the direction of President Lyndon Johnson, declared Waterloo, New York, the official birthplace of Memorial Day. They chose Waterloo because the town had made Memorial Day an annual, community-wide event since their first celebration on May 5, 1866, during which businesses closed and residents decorated the graves of soldiers with flowers and flags. (Other towns have claimed to be the birthplace of this celebration including Boalsburg, Pennsylvania.)

In 1971, Congress declared Memorial Day a National Holiday to be celebrated the last Monday in May.

HISTORY OF THE TAPS

Of all the military bugle calls, none is so easily recognized or more apt to render emotion than Taps. Up to the Civil War, the traditional call at day's end was a tune, borrowed from the French, called Lights Out. In July of 1862, in the aftermath of the bloody Seven Days battles, hard on the loss of 600 men and wounded himself, Union General Daniel Adams Butterfield called the brigade bugler to his tent. He thought "Lights Out" was too formal and he wished to honor his men. Oliver Wilcox Norton, the bugler, tells the story, "...showing me some notes on a staff written in pencil on the back of an envelope, (he) asked me to sound them on my bugle. I did this several times, playing the music as written. He changed it somewhat, lengthening some notes and shortening others, but retaining the melody as he first gave it to me. After getting it to his satisfaction, he directed me to sound that call for Taps thereafter in place of the regulation call. The music was beautiful on that still summer night and was heard far beyond the limits of our Brigade. The next day I was visited by several buglers from neighboring Brigades, asking for copies of the music which I gladly furnished. The call was gradually taken up through the Army of the Potomac."

This more emotive and powerful Taps was soon adopted throughout the military. In 1874 it was officially recognized by the U.S. Army. It became standard at military funeral ceremonies in 1891. There is something singularly beautiful and appropriate in the music of this wonderful call. Its strains are melancholy, yet full of rest and peace. Its echoes linger in the heart long after its tones have ceased to vibrate in the air.
